The first class dance is to be held tonight from 8 to 12 o'clock when the seniors and their dates swing into the "little red schoolhouse," or in other words the transformed gymnasium. The practice teacher will find herself quite naturally situated with blackboards, dunce caps, and waitresses dressed in pinafores. The Auburn Plainsmen who will furnish the music will have a picket fence surrounding them which will add to the illusion of a school yard.

Class President Nancy Ragland will lead out with her date. Sam Newell

For the last few weeks, there have been two groups of collective Pygmalion on the campus. The freshman and sophomore classes had chosen as their goal perfection in their plays and songs for the Golden Slipper contest. They really fell in love with the idea of winning the slipper.

Posters mushroomed up all around the campus over night. The freshmen were determined to destroy the sophomore morale, and the sophomores were just as determined to shake the freshman will to win.
